The board of medical, pharmaceutical and patient advisers

Consultez la version française

All members of our advisory bodies are subject to the ANSM's ethical rules. The composition of these committees, the agendas and meeting minutes are published on the ANSM's website. The ANSM’s policy of openness to society as a whole is also reflected in the live broadcasting of filmed public hearings on the agency's YouTube channel.

Attentive to the concerns of patients and healthcare professionals on the ground, the mandate of the Board of Advisers is to provide support and advice to divisions and assessors.

The Board is composed of:

- medical advisers with clinical or academic experience who are able to mobilise and inform a network of practitioners;
- a pharmaceutical adviser who reinforces in-house pharmaceutical expertise, supporting the divisions;
- a patient adviser providing the patient's point of view and serving as an interface with a patient network.

The board members contribute to the development of the Agency’s public health policy. Through their feedback, they help to define the annual programme and its operational implementation. They may take part in standing and temporary scientific committees, and may be consulted in the context of high-risk situations, as well as for practice-related issues in the context of the assessment of submissions.
